Quinton Young)

110609-F-UL435-044: DAKOTA DUNES, S.D. – This is the same home as pictured above in the Riv-r-land housing development five days later. Neighbors and friends within this community have spent countless hours sandbagging, and hauling in dirt and rock to help build the levee to help protect the neighborhood, but conditions have become too dangerous and the residents have all been evacuated as of Thursday, June 9, 2011. To help house the evacuated residents, the Red Cross is operating a shelter at the Dakota Valley Schools in North Sioux City, SD. (SDNG photo by Tech. Sgt. Quinton Young)

110609-F-CA358-099: DAKOTA DUNES, S.D. - Tech. Sgt. Quinton Young catches a ride on a pay loader down to some of the more affected areas of the Riv-r-land housing development with resident Jim Zortman, Thursday, June 9, 2011, to document the Southeast South Dakota Flood Incident. Even though they have already been evacuated Zortman and others are still doing everything possible to mitigate the amount of damage the river does to their neighborhood. (SDNG photo by Lt. Col. Reid Christopherson)

110609-F-UL435-029: DAKOTA DUNES, S.D. – The Riv-r-land housing development has been evacuated and the waters of the Missouri River are covering the streets in this neighborhood of the development, Thursday, June 9, 2011. Local law enforcement, with the help of several other law enforcement agencies and the South Dakota National Guard, are taking steps to protect property while it is vacated by the residents.
